

Spectacle on the most lavish scale ruled the dazzling production. Production numbers, breathtaking in execution and costuming, followed each other in kaleidoscopic fashion. Unmatched for stunning impact, the scenes raced with excitement and offered standards of artistic and technical splendor such as the show world has never even attempted to duplicate let alone surpass.

-Lido de Paris press release, April 24, 1970

Folies Bergère was, until its sad demise in 2009, the longest continually running show in Vegas history. It titillated, embarrassed, and opened the minds of millions. No trip to Vegas was complete without a visit with these high-stepping beauties.

*-Nevada State Magazine article on “The 10 Most Influential Acts in Las Vegas History”
January/February 2011*

*Although the Lido de Paris and the Folies Bergère are now part of Las Vegas entertainment history, these documents and artifacts, as well as the memories of the many performers who graced the stages of the Stardust and Tropicana, remain as a legacy of the Parisian elegance that made these production show spectacles a symbol of Las Vegas excess at its most glamorous.*